TIN Roofing and Spouting a Specialty.
Will furnish and put up tin roofs $10.00 per square, being one hundred square feet. I warn my customers to have their roofs made of iron, as iron roofs are more durable and does not admit dust. Tin can be put up nearly flat, and thus is cheaper than iron. It will require one third less square to cover a building
done in iron than does considerable pitch to do the same work. Very strong and work done by Nasco-Hart Organ of Paris, and the Metal Roofs are built in.

Hot Springs.

D. O. Fisher Esq., who for some years has been superintendent of the Arkansas Hot Springs, favored us with a call, Monday of this week. He furnished us with several pamphlets and late papers, descriptive of that famous resort. The immense reputation which those springs have obtained, the large town which is supported by them, and the amount of money invested there, indicate something of the great importance which the Las Vegas Hot Springs will attain, in the near future.

The Hot Springs of Arkansas have alone been the cause of building up a town of over 6,000 permanent residents, which is visited every year by many thousands of people from all parts of the United States. These transient visitors are its only source of wealth; yet many large hotels are maintained and the business community is a prosperous one the year round. The hot water is a most potent thing, capable of producing money, restoring health and securing pleasure.

The Arkansas Hot Springs have not as great natural advantages as those of Las Vegas. There the climate is unhealthy and extremely hot during the summer months. The good effect of the water is often neutralized by the injurious effects of the climate. Here it is all that could be desired, through every season, as regards health and comfort. The water is fully equal in curative and medicinal properties and the climate is infinitely superior. It will be alike available as a summer and winter resort, and yellow fever will never reach this altitude, to strike those who may take refuge here. The scenery is all that mighty mountain ranges, vast plains, deep canons and high peaks can give. These springs will retain the future important town of New Mexico, either on the present site of Las Vegas, or within the distance of a mile from the plaza. They will be fully equal as a source of business to the Springs of Arkansas and without other advantages, when the railroad reaches this far, would maintain a town of twice the size of the upper and lower plazas combined. But position will give us the trade of the Territory, whether the railroad goes through to the south or not, and Las Vegas will assume, within a few years, the position of the greatest health resort of the south-west, as likewise the commercial metropolis of New Mexico.

The Joint Discussion.

The joint discussion between the respective candidates for congress did not come off, last Saturday, to the great disappointment of the people. Both candidates were escorted into town, by their respective parties, the number on each side being about equal. The discussion was appointed to commence at 2 o'clock; but it hung fire, and at a later hour the democrats organized a meeting in the court house. They appointed a committee to wait upon Mr. Otero. The latter gentleman at once repaired to the court house with a large following of republicans. He then stated that previous to beginning the discussion a portion of the officers of the meeting should be appointed from the republican party. This question brought on a sharp and excited debate, with much confusion, when the republicans withdrew and organized a separate meeting in the plaza, with the public well in attendance.

The democratic meeting was addressed by Messrs. Echito Baen, Pedro Valdes, Desiderio Romero and others, and the republican meeting by Gen. T. Romero, Judge M. S. Otero, Col. Abren and others. It would seem to have been a little mismanagement, in not appointing a joint committee from each party, to arrange the time and details of the discussion, as otherwise a joint meeting was impossible.
